The tournament's unique and fun match format challenged players' skills and chemistry. The event offered a chance for players to showcase their talents while enjoying a fun-filled day and encourage new friendships.

A NEW YEAR OF SPORT: THAI BOXING

Coach Praveen Robin Biswakarma, a professional fighter with over 10 years of experience, took charge this March in A New Year of Sport. Patrons were taught technical skills which included fundamental moves such as the jab, hook, kick, and block through fun games. The programme encouraged young athletes to learn and improve their techniques while exploring a new combat sport.

HKGTA GOLF SERIES 2023 EDITION

The HKGTA Golf Series makes a return in 2023, offering golfers of all ages and abilities an opportunity to showcase their skills. Patrons enjoyed the challenging course and the chance to interact with fellow golf enthusiasts. This year's event was a resounding success with a combination of healthy competition and left Patrons with new goals for the year while eager for the next edition.

REAPING THE REWARDS OF HARVEST DAY

Harvest Day continue to be a hit as Patrons were able to immerse themselves in the joys of nature throughout the season and bond over food. From planting and fostering to finally reaping the crops and plants, Patrons were able to harvest their own produce, cook and enjoy their vegetables and share with their loved ones while promoting sustainability.

THE DEPTH AND DIMENSION OF — K A I S E I K I —

WITH CHEF YUJI KURITA OF YAKUMO

Constantly abuzz with the sound of clinking glasses and cutlery, Hong Kong is never short of a great place to wine and dine. But in the heart of Central, there is a restaurant that exudes a sense of tranquillity and serenity, a space so exclusive and special, that it is only available for a select clientele with a long waiting list. Tucked inside Town Club is Yakumo, a kaiseki restaurant helmed by Chef Yuji Kurita, which offers a dining experience that is nothing short of ethereal.

THE DEPTH AND DIMENSION OF KAISEIKI

Yakumo is befittingly named, meaning “clouds that overlap in layers”, which is exactly the type of dining experience one can expect with every visit. The depths and dimensions of the ingredients are cleverly designed and put together to produce stunning creations. The hand-crafted courses rhythmically flow fluidly from one dish to the next, also characterising of the name of the restaurant and how all elements complement each other.

Chef Kurita, a maestro of kaiseki cuisine, has been working in restaurants across the globe, from Beijing to Milan, Abu Dhabi, and now Hong Kong. With his unwavering passion for cooking, he honed his skills in Kyoto, where he spent seven years mastering the art of traditional Japanese cuisine. He brings a unique perspective to his cooking, incorporating his own personal touch while staying true to the traditional techniques of kaiseki cooking.

Despite Hong Kong's abundance of Japanese restaurants, Chef Kurita's Yakumo stands out from the crowd for its impeccable quality and authenticity. Yakumo offers a fortnightly rotating menu that changes based on the seasonality of ingredients, featuring 11 courses for dinner and a lighter seven-course lunch menu. March's menu, for example, includes dishes such as the Sakizuke dish composed of Kuruma Ebi prawn, scallop, and grey mullet karasumi; Yakimono grilled bamboo shoots with Japanese smelt; and Otsukuri tilefish with Japanese Sayori, soy, wasabi and seaweed. Each dish is a work of art, showcasing Chef Kurita's impeccable attention to detail and his commitment to using only the freshest ingredients available.

But what really sets Yakumo apart is its dedication to kaiseki cuisine. Kaiseki is a multi-course Japanese meal that is rooted in the traditions of the tea ceremony and is typically served in small portions, allowing diners to savour each dish's unique flavour. At Yakumo, the kaiseki experience is elevated to an art form, with Chef Kurita meticulously crafting each dish to perfection. The result is a dining experience that is not just a feast for the senses but a journey through centuries of Japanese culture and history.

THE DEPTH AND DIMENSION OF KAISEIKI

Yakumo also offers a unique experience every Wednesday when it transforms into a ramen bar. The unique experience is a departure from the kaiseki cuisine, but Chef Kurita is adamant when it comes to sharing his love for ramen. It is evident that the aficionado is passionate. The rich flavours and refreshing taste is portrayed in every bowl of his ramen which has earned him a dedicated following amongst Patrons at Town Club. Though concise, the menu is diverse with chicken, pork rib and seafood options to choose from. Each bowl of piping hot comfort is customised to each individual's liking, from toppings to texture, and starters to sides.

At Yakumo, Chef Kurita's passion for food and his dedication to quality shine through in every dish. As he puts it, "The most important thing for me is to create something that people will enjoy and remember." His commitment to using the best ingredients and creating dishes that are both visually stunning and delicious is what Chef Kurita brings to the Yakumo table.

In conclusion, Chef Kurita's mastery of traditional kaiseki cooking has brought a unique experience to Hong Kong's dining scene. At Yakumo, diners can expect to be transported to a world where the harmony of nature and ingredients come together in each dish. Come and taste the beauty of Chef Kurita's culinary artistry for yourself at Yakumo.

FROM THE TEE TO THE TOP

*Introducing
Advanced Certified Golf Instructor,*

DAVID CAI

HKGTA has recently welcomed a new addition to the esteemed golf team – David Cai, an Advanced Certified Golf Instructor with over a decade of experience in coaching and playing golf. David's passion for golf began at the age of 17 when his father first introduced him to the sport at a driving range. It was from that moment on that he has devoted himself to the game, and he hasn't stopped since.

MEET THE COACH

David's journey in golf has taken him across the globe – from Hong Kong to the US, China, and Dubai. He has dedicated himself to the sport, not only as a player but also as a coach. During his tenure in the PGA Golf Management Program at North Carolina State University, David honed his playing skills by participating in PGM tournaments and gained valuable teaching experience through internships. He also completed his final year with a teaching and coaching project in Dubai, furthering his development as both a player and a coach.

David's teaching philosophy is founded on the principles of humility and individualisation. He recognises that every student is unique and requires a bespoke approach, and he tackles each lesson with the aim of helping his students discover the most effective and simplest way to play their best game. He is committed to empowering his students to take ownership of their game and continue to improve after their lessons are over.

David's coaching style is exemplary, and his understanding of the game is comprehensive. He has a keen ability to observe and pinpoint a player's strengths and weaknesses, and he is adept at adapting his coaching style to suit different players and situations. He is passionate about helping his students discover their intrinsic motivation, personality, and drive, and inspiring them to chart their own course to success.

David's interests extend beyond golf, and he is a multi-faceted athlete with a diverse range of passions. He enjoys hiking, badminton, table tennis, and basketball, and he has a keen interest in architecture and singing. His zest for life and his positive attitude are infectious, and he serves as an inspiration to those around him, especially his students.

David's journey in golf serves as a testament to the fact that hard work, dedication, and passion can take one a long way in the game of golf, and his story is sure to inspire many young golfers to pursue their dreams with fervour and enthusiasm.
