¿Qué podemos hacer para ahorrar agua? Que pouvons-nous faire pour économiser l'eau ? What can we do to save water?

Utilice envases biodegradables de un solo uso en lugar de uso múltiple. ¿Por qué?

Los sistemas de uso múltiple para food service deben lavarse y secarse entre usos, lo que resulta un gasto sustancial de agua a lo largo del tiempo, en un momento en el que la escasez de agua es un gran problema a nivel europeo y mundial.

Los sistemas de lavado no solo requieren consumo de agua potable, sino también energía y detergentes, por lo que generan un gran impacto ambiental.

La energía utilizada en estos procesos de lavado y secado aumenta la acidificación terrestre. Esto es debido a que las centrales eléctricas producen una gran cantidad de contaminantes, que causan la lluvia ácida, al quemar combustibles fósiles para producir energía.

Los productos de un solo uso a base de papel son la mejor opción porque son renovables, reciclables y utilizan menos energía y agua potable en su ciclo total de vida.

La materia prima para fabricar envases de un solo uso a base de papel proviene de bosques controlados de forma sostenible, con certificación FSC, que garantiza una gestión forestal responsable en todo el mundo.

Además, las fibras de papel pueden ser recicladas hasta 7 veces de media. En Europa, los envases de papel y cartón son los más reciclados, con una tasa del 85,6%, por lo que son un gran aliado para la transición hacia una economía circular.

Y por último, pero no menos importante, los envases de papel y cartón son un producto más higiénico: protegen mejor los alimentos y evitan la contaminación cruzada.

Rompamos los mitos y ayudemos al medio ambiente mediante la utilización de envases biodegradables de un solo uso de papel.

Utilisez des emballages biodégradables à usage unique au lieu d'un usage multiple. Pourquoi ?

Les systèmes à usages multiples pour le food service doivent être lavés et séchés entre les utilisations, ce qui entraîne une consommation d'eau importante au fil du temps, à une époque où la pénurie d'eau est un problème majeur au niveau européen et mondial.

Les systèmes de lavage nécessitent non seulement une dépense d'eau potable, mais aussi d'énergie et de détergents, ils génèrent donc un impact environnemental important.

L'énergie utilisée dans ces processus de lavage et de séchage provoque une acidification terrestre. En effet, les centrales électriques produisent beaucoup de polluants, qui provoquent des pluies acides, en brûlant des combustibles fossiles pour produire de l'énergie.

Les produits à usage unique à base de papier sont la meilleure option car ils sont renouvelables, recyclables et consomment moins d'énergie et d'eau potable dans son cycle de vie total.

La matière première pour fabriquer des conteneurs d'un seule utilisation à base de papier provient des forêts contrôlé durablement, certifié FSC, assurant une gestion forestière responsable dans le monde entier.

De plus, les fibres de papier peuvent être recyclées jusqu'à 7 fois en moyenne. En Europe, les emballages en papier et carton sont les plus recyclés, avec un taux de 85,6%, ils sont donc un excellent allié pour la transition vers une économie circulaire.

Enfin, les emballages en papier et carton à usage unique sont un produit plus hygiénique: ils protègent au mieux les aliments et préviennent la contamination croisée.

Brisons les idées fausses et aidons à économiser l'eau et notre environnement en utilisant des emballages biodégradables et compostables à usage unique en papier.

* Données obtenues à partir de l'étude d'analyse du cycle de vie réalisée par Ramboll Consultancy pour EPPA - European Paper Packaging Alliance, et certifiées par le TÜV allemand (Technischer Überwachungsverein).

Use single-use biodegradable packaging instead of multiple use. Why?

Multiple-use systems for food service need to be washed and dried in between uses, resulting in substantial water usage over time, at a time when water scarcity is a major problem at European and global level.

Washing systems not only require water consumption, but also energy and detergents, so they generate a great environmental impact.

The energy used in these washing and drying processes causes terrestrial acidification.

This is because power plants produce a large amount of pollutants that cause acid rain by burning fossil fuels to produce energy.

Paper-based single-use products are the best option because they are renewable, recyclable and use less energy and fresh water.

The raw material for the production of paper-based single-use packaging comes from sustainably managed forests with FSC certification, which guarantees responsible forest management worldwide.

In addition, the paper fibres can be recycled up to 7 times on average. In Europe, paper and cardboard packaging is the most recycled, with a rate of 85.6%, making it a great ally in the transition to a circular economy.

And last but not least, single use paper packaging is a more hygienic product: they best protect the food and prevent cross contamination.

Let's break misconceptions and help save the water and our environment by using single-use biodegradable & compostable packaging.
